

MENA Women News Brief

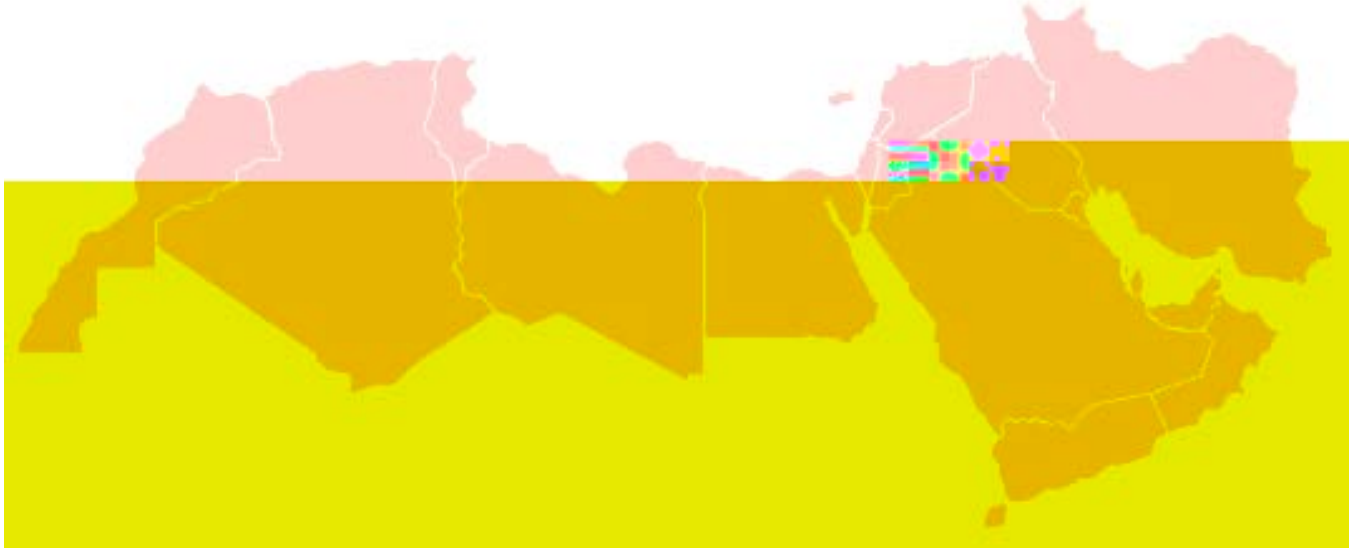

September 16, as saying. No details were given on what the women had done wrong to warrant the fine, which is equivalent to the monthly minimum wage.” (Middle East Eye)

Iraq

September 8: Senior ISIS Commander Abu Anas Killed By Iraqi Woman For Forcing Her Into Sex Slavery

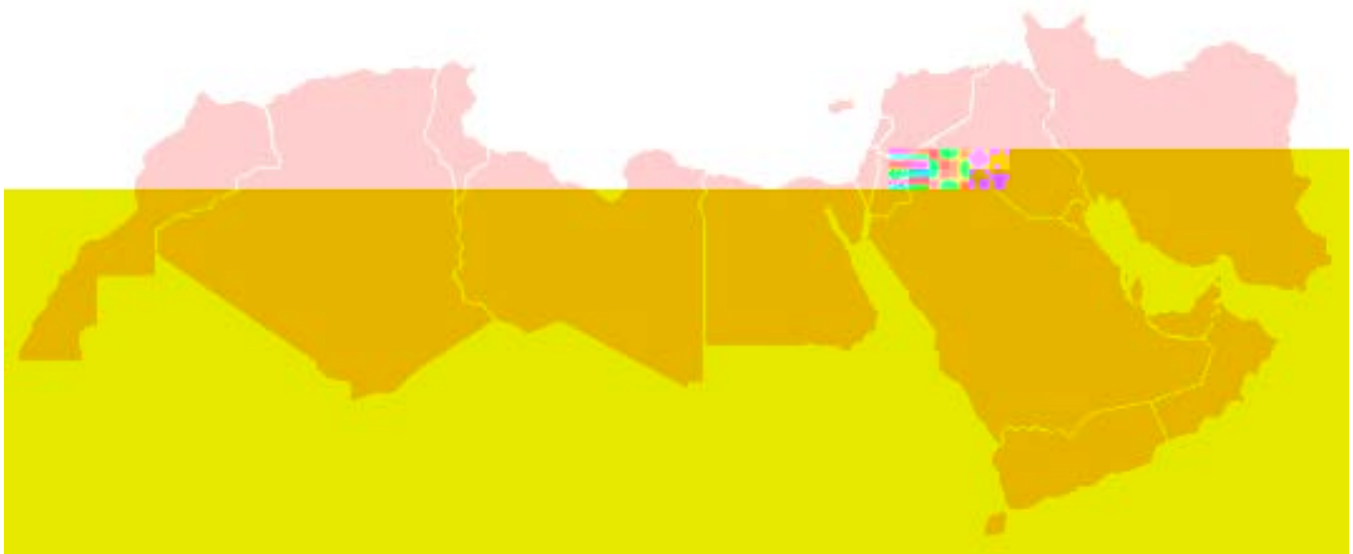

“An Iraqi woman killed a senior commander of the Islamic State group for having forced her into sex slavery. The incident took place Saturday, September 5, in the Tal Roman district, west of Mosul. The commander was known as Abu Anas, who had forced the woman to get married to a number of men under his command. It is unclear how the woman killed the commander and what happened to her after committing the murder.” (International Business Times) little bit of faith and patience, they would see that we're developing our system as we go. It's not strict, it's not canonized, and it's not structured yet, but it's getting there. We're sticking our toes in the water, and it's a fascinating moment to be in." (Refinery 29)

September 8: Easy Taxi Empowering Women in Saudi Arabia

“In the spirit of women empowerment during the 2015 municipal elections in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, Easy Taxi is currently on a mission to make the process of voting for women much easier, in a country where women are not allowed to drive.”

likely to have a high employment impact as well as benefit from the early development of Turkish children.” (Daily Sabah)

September 18: In Turkey, Rolling Back Protections for Women

“

