

SHARED RESPONSIBILITY

U.S.-MEXICO POLICY OPTIONS FOR CONFRONTING ORGANIZED CRIME

Edited by Eric L. Olson, David A. Shirk, and Andrew Selee

SHARED RESPONSIBILITY

Edited by

Eric Olson, Andrew Selee, David
Shirk

Luis Astorga & David Shirk (Mexico)

Stephen Dudley (Central America)

José Díaz-Briseño (Heroin Distribution)

Peter Reuter (U.S. Drug Policy)

Douglas Farah (Money Laundering)

Colby Goodman & Michel Marizco (Guns)

David Shirk (Judicial Reform)

Daniel Sabet (Press Freedom)

Roderic Camp (Military Role)

John Bailey (OC Strategies)

Sigrid Arzt (Security Cooperation)

Various Estimates for Drug Trafficking and Organized Crime Killings, 2001-2012

Strategy

Vicente Fox (2000-06)

-

Mérida Initiative

U.S.-Mexico Security Cooperation

PILLAR I

Combating organized crime

PILLAR II

Judicial sector reform in Mexico

PILLAR III

Building a 21st century
border

PILLAR IV

In Search of Resilience...

The central driving question for the authors in this book is this: how to promote constructive societal responses to various disasters. ...

Resilient Communities in Mexico

Civic Responses to Crime and Violence

1. David Shirk, Duncan Wood, Eric Olson
2. Matthew Ingram (Education & Employment)
3. Steven Dudley & Sandra Rodríguez (Civic Groups)
4. Nathan P. Jones (Youth Gangs)
5. Lauren Villagran (Victims Movement)
6. Emily Edmonds

What is “Resilience”?

The term resilience has been used in the environmental sciences and, more recently, in reference to disaster scenarios to describe the ability of individuals, groups, and systems to not only to withstand adversity, but to recover from it.

Key Recommendations

Building Resilient Communities in Mexico

Stronger States and Societies

Building Trust Between Officials & Citizens

Partnering
Effectively

